chief of staff where he oversees the day-to-day operation of the second largest school district in New York State right behind New York City. He has served in the “second in command” under Dr. Kriner Cash’s leadership

Dr. Brown-Hall will become Superintendent on July 1, 2021. School Board President Teresa Leatherbarrow said, “Dr. Brown-Hall’s experience and achievements in Buffalo Public Schools have prepared him to adeptly and effectively lead the Williamsville Central School District into the future. Community involvement and support was a critical component to the open search process. After careful consideration of all feedback, and several rounds of interviews, the Williamsville CSD Board of Education made the decision that Dr. Brown-Hall is the right leader at this time to lead the district.” The district is looking forward to working with Dr. Brown-Hall when he assumes his position in July and they can collectively develop a vision of supporting all learners to reach their full potential.

Dr. Brown-Hall is active in the education community and has served as a member of CIDEL (Committee for Identifying and Developing Educational Leaders) in the Western New York Education Service Council as well as serving as a Board Member for the Western New York Education Service Council. He is on the Board of Directors for Compass House and is on the Board of Directors for Gay, Lesbian, Youth Services (GLYS).
