Congressman Tom Reed

Congressman Tom Reed is the youngest of 12 children. He was raised by a single Mother on a social security check. His Father who was a decorated military officer died when Tom was 2. Tom learned about his Father's legacy of service and loyalty by his Mother and siblings. Tom grew up in the Corning area and still lives in the house his grandfather built with his wife Jean and his daughter Autumn and son Will.

Tom is a former All-American swimmer who graduated from Alfred University in 1993 and from Ohio Northern University College of Law in 1996. Tom served as the Mayor of Corning and learned that "potholes and parking tickets" are not partisan issues. He brings that same approach to Washington D.C. as he attempts to solve issues. He is Co-Chair of the Problem Solvers Caucus comprised of 24 republicans and 24 democrats that meet weekly to try to solve the nation's most contentious issues. Key issues include the following topics. More information on the each of the topics can be obtained by visiting Tom Reed's website:
